Acknowledgments

It is very gratifying to know that the first edition of this text was so well-received. The experience working with the programmed approach to learning has made me a believer in the method and its effectiveness, and has inspired the work on this second edition.

I want to acknowledge the hard work and dedication of the Lippincott Williams and Wilkins staff members who were involved with this revision. So many bright minds and careful hands have transformed the material into the informative pages of this text. It was exciting to watch the teamwork in action. John Goucher, the Executive Editor for the first edition, was instrumental in organizing the revision plan, and Julie Stegman, the Senior Publisher for this edition, has capably guided its final phase. Linda Francis was at the helm early in the process, and worked tirelessly on organizing materials. Behind the scenes, Jennifer Clements was there for support in the search for quality images, and Paul Montgomery did an exemplary job of updating permissions for them. It has been amazing to observe the talent and skill of Heather Rybacki, Senior Managing Editor. She is detailed and dedicated to excellence, and I consider myself very fortunate to have her guidance. To all, I extend my heart-felt thanks!

I am also thankful for the continued support of my colleagues on the faculty of the Orange Coast College School of Allied Health Professions, and for my medical terminology students who inspire me with their enthusiasm for learning and commitment to worthy healthcare goals.

The reviewers for the second edition were outstanding. My thanks go out to each of them listed below. I especially want to recognize Margaret Stinner for her extraordinary feedback and excellent suggestions.
